212922	 A. I would love to see community theater, even if only once or twice a year here in Unity. I know that the High School has a vibrant drama program - perhaps more could be done to publicize their productions. Also, a community driven play might be put on at least once a year at the UC Performing Arts Center. When I lived in rural Massachusetts - once every other year, the whole town put on a talent show - AMAZING! B. One of our greatest assets is the Unity College Library - How many residents actively use the library? Are community volunteers encouraged to help with the library, particularly the children's area and programs? C. One of my concerns is the number of properties in the Town Center area that are vacant (some for over 10 years) - before we build on open land, action should be taken to resolve this issue. If property is abandoned and in decay, it detracts from the town and creates a very poor first impression. I would hate to see Unity go the way of other Maine towns, where the center is in decline and the surrounding green space is developed by chains of all kinds.	09 Sep 2013 18:37

	A. A small public library in town B. A bakery C. I would like to see a new committee or existing one create a panel of residents and retailers/ representatives of the non profits in town and the college to target some key projects/goals to better the community. (seems like barn raisers started this way but has recently gotten off track?) One of my thoughts is to turn the Marina area into a public (very low fee) day use park with trails etc (See Augusta Bicentennial Park) They have an amazing park there. A small fee could generate money for the town. The park could be planned out with the help of grants (?) and volunteers- college students in Park Planning and design major as well as environmental studies and landscaping are always looking for internships and community service projects. Just a thought. It just seems that many of these wonderful groups and entities in town are islands in and of themselves and I think collectively alot could be accomplished. More community events. I think we still have quite a few people who want this town to have big industry. There are quite a few misplaced people that have ideas and a need to succeed for themselves. I thought maybe a mini mall where the train stations has all kinds of buildings. Where old Dr. Aldrich's house would be an office or sum sort of med clinic. Some of these jobs may not pay especially well, but there is something to be said about not having to drive 20-45 minutes one way every day to work. Taxes . . . Taxes rarely go down and almost always go up . . . and I realize a driving force is the school system. While I also realize wages and expenses are always increasing, I question the amount of school increases when the student population is down. I also am concerned that at some point we may see Unity decide to go with its own law enforcement, paid fire or EMS or Public Works Department . . . which would also mean an increase in taxes.  219395	The tax rate in this town after the town evaluation is in my opinion very unfair. The people, like me, who have property on Unity Pond got unfairly hammered. My property taxes doubled four times in five years on a summer camp that can be used for four months at best. The water turns green in late july, receive no town services, have to maintain my own road and the list keeps going on. The town does absolutely nothing for the camp owners and now they are the most heavily taxed in the town. I find this very unfair.	07 Oct 2013 21:05

 215703	Town meeting is indeed a "pure form of democracy", especially if your definition of that word includes mob rule!! I doubt very much that I will ever attend again. It makes me ill to see our tax dollars WASTED so!! The Game Loft, REALLY!! You want $300.00? Take $500.00!!! It must be so much fun spending other people's money!! Charity giving should be a personal choice, not forced on everyone through taxes. People are fed up. That is why they do not attend!! My husband's father has always told me that you're going to do what you're going to do, and I guess he is right. Why punish myself by listening to it!!	24 Sep 2013 14:14
 215485	Stop Dr. Ducker from prescribing narcotics to people who sell them to kids. Clean up the corrupt sheriff's dept. The schools are failing at teaching our children. We need an educational overhaul before it is too late. I work with children in after-school programs and they can't read at eight years old! Not just a few of them, but most! They can't do simple math either. It is sad. No wonder they grow up and can't get a job. We're raising delinquents. We should be ashamed. I do not blame the schools completely. It is the parents' fault as well, but since the majority of our tax money goes towards education, we should be ensuring that the children are taught what they need to know in school successfully. Otherwise, we have wasted that money are poor stewards of the town's most valuable assets - the children and future of Unity.	23 Sep 2013 20:16

215148		Lived in this town for 23 years and not liking the changes going on or the wasteful spending	20 Sep 2013 11:17
214954		What is concerning me the most is the lack of upkeep on the property the Cliffords so generously donated to our town. It was beautiful property while he was still living and it pains me to see how it is being kept now. i am also concerned about the number of chain stores and restaurants that are coming into town. These businesses are making it hard for our small town business owners to make a living and frankly, I believe they have no place in our pretty little small town.	20 Sep 2013 10:17
214912		Taxes are rising way too fast in this town!!	20 Sep 2013 08:43
214905		What you have done and continue to do is so impressive - I live in Brooks and come to Unity for a lot of things. Maybe Brooks could learn from Unity.	20 Sep 2013 08:05
214902		That the town of Unity has a higher crime rate, higher taxes and there are decisions being made about our town that doesn't make sense with where our money as tax payers is being spent. Our roads are horrible. I'd like to see more people in the town paying their taxes and paying on time.	20 Sep 2013 07:25
214865		Just the new franchises coming to town. Takes away from the local flavor and economy.	19 Sep 2013 23:04
214850		Taxes have increased a lot, miss having our grammar school in town :( With the economy the way it is I do not believe we should spend several hundred thousand dollars for a new town office, there there cheaper options.	19 Sep 2013 21:47
214835		The influx of people that have no serious emotional connection to the town (not healthy for the safety and security of our friends and neighbors) and the possibility that large corporations like Family Dollar (that is probably the best option for its market though) will infiltrate our town more than just a franchises.	19 Sep 2013 20:07
214833		Farmland trust.... With all the farmers selling the rights of the land, we are losing available land for future generations. As a result of land being locked up, the land around these properties are going up in value because for the lack of developmental property, thus the taxes go up unjustly not due to property value as much as supply and demand. Why should I have my property taxes go up because I now have a home that will not have neighbors because of someone else's actions?	19 Sep 2013 20:03
214831		I hate the traffic jams during Common Ground Fair.	19 Sep 2013 18:59
214801		There isn't enough diverse views on town planning boards. That the next building up could be a walmart. That there isn't a downtown area without a major road going through it.	19 Sep 2013 16:02
214795		At this time, I don't have any concerns about anything in Unity.	19 Sep 2013 15:18
214793		I think our Unity town signs are in need of replacement. They are faded and uninspired. With all the talent that must be present at the schools and college and among the general population, we should have a really attention-grabbing sign that shouts, "WELCOME! You are in UNITY!" in so many words. It is sort of embarrassing to have so many people coming for the Common Ground Fair and to have such shabby signs.	19 Sep 2013 15:16
214755		Not much for the College kids or others to do here - recreation wise.	19 Sep 2013 12:54
214745		It would really be nice if Field of Dreams allowed dogs on leashes. People in other towns seem to be fine with picking up after their dogs.	19 Sep 2013 12:28
214734		We need people who have vision in the town office and not just people who want to keep taxes down at all costs	19 Sep 2013 12:04
214489		I don't want to see Unity become another town that looks like every other town with strip malls and national chain stores.	17 Sep 2013 18:50
214170		I am horrified and disappointed about the town office lease. That building was meant to house the town office and post office; corporate sleaziness wins again Since the athletic field and performing arts center were 'turned over' to the college, maintenance has deteriorated. This is a real shame.	16 Sep 2013 09:02
213855		We're growing old. We already have a pool of young people who experience Unity for 4 years. What do we do to entice them to stay?	13 Sep 2013 15:26
212880		It concerns me that we have a significant number of residents who do not pay property taxes in a timely manner and complain that they "get nothing for their money." This puts a strain on our Town Clerk and limits the flow of revenue.	09 Sep 2013 18:37
212772		Senility of one Selectman	09 Sep 2013 12:09
212368		Our population's nearly complete dependence on heating oil and gasoline-powered transportation in an era of rising fuel costs, declining fuel resources, and accelerating climate change.	07 Sep 2013 12:47
212370		The truck traffic on Route 202 can get excessive and very fast.	07 Sep 2013 11:34
		What concerns me most are decisions being made that seriously affect the character of this town without any input from residents whatsoever. It seems that they had all but put the sign on the store

211289	before anyone even knew a Dollar Store was coming in. Myself and most people I know were horrified. Add to that a Dunkin Donuts and I started to seriously consider moving away from what I thought would be my forever home. I understand the need for growth and increasing the tax base. But hey, having those businesses come into town didn't help at all- because my taxes took the biggest leap this year since we have lived here 17 years.	04 Sep 2013 06:40
210262	What happened to the Barn Raisers? I do not get information anymore on what is going on. Are they still active and doing things for the community? I heard subway is coming to town. I have mixed feelings about this. I think we need to do more to support our local business.	30 Aug 2013 21:12
210261	Mostly the subway, dunkin, family dollar situation. It's been disappointing to see that change.	30 Aug 2013 21:07
210074	road maintenance is abysmal town leaders are rude and disrespectful	30 Aug 2013 17:13
209801	Volunteer emergency staff does not seem adequately trained for emergencies.	30 Aug 2013 14:24
208256	Less focus on dictating what homeowners, businesses, etc., can and cannot do with their property. The character of Unity is our people, the diversity - not a roof line or a color of a roof or the size of a stupid window. We need to lift restrictions and invite business to this area. I don't want businesses all crammed into one area like a strip mall - I like it spread out. We need to stop being concerned about a stupid orange plastic fence that was put up to protect children, and be grateful that someone is doing something to protect their children in the first place. I would personally like to see the current business owners on these committees devote less time dreaming about acquiring someone else's property to benefit themselves (such as Ralph Nason's property) and focus on doing something for the town that would benefit everyone.	26 Aug 2013 19:43
207862	Unity has a high level of poverty. It takes jobs to get out of poverty. And by jobs, I mean in a profit based business. Unity have approximately 20 percent non-profit operations within its valuation and it continues to grow. Profit is not a dirty word. Two hundred years of Unity history without needing ordinances. The process used was respect of neighbors. I, for one, will not accept others prohibiting me from utilizing my holdings as I choose to. I will respect my neighbors. Not some wording within a document. And to be clear, I am Jim Kenney. My family came to Unity in 1823. We have made our way on our own.	25 Aug 2013 19:49
207246	Not much really.	23 Aug 2013 14:06
206882	My biggest concern is that, because it is a hub for our area, Unity could start to look like a suburban strip mall.	21 Aug 2013 11:45
204889	We should be getting a plan for climate transition. We need a number or ordinances that we don't have.	02 Aug 2013 09:13
204833	the management of our town office	01 Aug 2013 14:23
204829	Uncontrolled development and chain stores coming to town Poverty Climate change and associated problems	01 Aug 2013 13:36
204755	The lake is not healthy and needs to be cleaned up. It would be nice to have a retirement, assisted living, nursing home place in town so that family members do not have to drive long distances to see an aging relative. We need more diverse and better restaurants in town. I would like to see us do something as a community to attract or to keep young people in town. This would involve an effort to see that there are businesses that provide good incomes for people and affordable housing.	31 Jul 2013 17:36
204738	taxes continue to go up	31 Jul 2013 17:07
203749	Nothing! I'm Happy Happy Happy!!	25 Jul 2013 11:39
